Gente hablando is a series that deals with universal themes through conversations between two characters. The situations present original points of view that seek to generate a reflection, leaving it to the viewer to draw their own conclusions.

Comedy is a fundamental part of Gente hablando and is present in both situations and dialogues, through a biting and subtle humor that reveals those small contradictions that are part of us.

It is simply a peephole through which the viewer can observe a private conversation between two people at a very specific moment in their lives.
